DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-21, drawn to a method of obtaining a cell that directs constitutive hypermutation, classified in class 435, subclass 377.
- II. Claims 24-41, drawn to a method for preparing a mutated form of a gene product, classified in class 435, subclass 455.
- III. Claims 42-44, drawn to a chicken bursal lymphoma cell for directing constitutive hypermutation of a target gene, classified in class 435, subclass 349.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions I and II are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). In the instant case the different inventions are drawn to a method of obtaining a cell that directs constitutive hypermutation and a method for preparing a mutated form of a gene product. The methods are not capable of use together, have different modes of operation, different functions and different effects.

Inventions I and III are related as process of making and product made. The inventions are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the process as claimed can be used to make other and materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process (MPEP § 806.05(f)). In the instant case the product made is limited to a chicken bursal lymphoma cell. The method, however, can be used to produce cells capable of directed constitutive hypermutation from cells of a variety of different lineages, as evidenced by the variety of cell lines named in claim 8. Therefore, the process as claimed can be used to make another and materially different product.

Inventions II and III are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (MPEP § 806.05(h)). In the instant case the process of use is a method of making a mutated form of a gene product by expressing a nucleic acid in a population of constitutively hypermutating cells. The product claimed is limited to a chicken bursal lymphoma cell. However, the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced using a constitutively hypermutating cell of lineages other than chicken bursal lymphoma. Therefore the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with a materially different product.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

A telephone call was made to Kathleen Williams on July 12, 2002 to request an oral election to the above restriction requirement, but did not result in an election being made.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

Art Unit: 1636

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
